Welcome to Chloe Potter Yoga, my classes are dynamic and are about developing strength, balance, & mobility through yoga. I have a strong background in physical fitness training and performance & have a passion for helping others gain control over their health & injuries. I've worked as a health & wellness coordinator in the corporate world, I have a BA in Dance & Performance, and over a decade of martial arts training & performing.

My goal is to help you make space in your life for self-care & maintenance of this amazing body you've been given.
