

Paul Swan Award winning author and mathematics educator Dr Paul Swan

Dr Paul Swan is an award-winning author and mathematics educator. After a long career which included working at primary and secondary level and 18 Years as a University mathematics education lecturer, Paul started consulting to leadership groups and international companies to help improve the way mathematics is taught. He continues to lecture, write and develop games and materials to help students develop a positive disposition toward mathematics.